King of Jerusalem by a council
of his peers

1100-1118

BALDWIN I was Crusader King
of ~~Jerusalem~~. Latin Kingdom
He was brother & successor
A GODFREY OF BOUILLON
EUSTACE was his brother
also.

1100 to 1300

In England alone, the population rose from around 2 M to between 4 M and 5 M

GODFREY OF BOUILLON died and the Crusaders elected his brother BALDWIN, the Count of EDESSA, who assumed the title of King of Jerusalem. The other 3 states recognized his position as SUZERAIN but were practically independent. All of them were extremely feudal in character.

The Latin Kingdom (as it was called) became an outpost of Christianity that mirrored the Italian situation with oppressive tribute with the East.

In addition, a continuous stream
of pilgrims and adventurers arrived to visit the Holy SEPULCHER, there
their fortunes, with kind employment.
The great military orders, particularly
the HOSPITALERS and TEMPLARS
garrisoned the coasts and in general
formed on the defense of the LATIN KINGDOM.
